BOY FINDS FATHER DYING, HELP FAILS TO REVIVE SUICIDE

Three Other Alleged Attempts on Life Are Unusuccessful in District.

Four alleged attempts at suicide were nade in Washington during the last twenty-four hours, only one of which proved successful.

When eight-year-old Frederick Kaiser was awakened early today by the groans of his father, Frederick Kalser. thirty-eight years old, of 127 Prospect street northeast, he falled to arouse his parent, and realizing that something serious had occurred ran out of the house for a physician.

By the time the latter arrived the elder Kaiser was dead. Death, according to the investigation of the police was caused by carbolic acid which the man evidently swallowed several minutes prior to being discovered in agony by his son. 'Papa, papa,' I called to him." explained the child on the arrival of the police, "but he did not answer. I knew he was very sick." Kalser retired early last night, and according to what could be learned of the man by the police he seemed to be in a despondent condition. Cor-onor Nevitt was notified by the police of the Eighth precinct and is making in investigation.

tired on falling to prouse his father, and ran to the office of Dr. Ferguson, North Capitol and R streets, several squares away. When the child reached the physician's office he was very nervous for several moments was unable to coherently that his father was ill. On learning the elder Kalser's condi-tion from the child, Dr. Ferguson made all hasle to the home. When he reached there he found the man gasping his last rding to the investigation of the police, Kaiser arose, presumably about o'clock this norning and going to a containing the acid. As no motive at this time can be ascribed as the cauce for suicide, it is not known whether the man intended to take his life or possibly by mistake got the poison.

Despondent Boy Almost Takes Poison, Nearly Jumps Into Potomac

Alfred H. Borgman, eighteen years old, tried suicide last night, according to the police, by almost swallowing some fodine and nearly jumping into the Potomac river. According to Borgman's story to the police, he left his home at 722 Eighth street northeast last evening to call on a young woman living in Tenth street southwest. While at the girl's home he was suddenly attacked with a fit of despondency and decided to end it all.

He told the police he took a phial of iodine from his pocket, placed it to his lips, and swallowed part of the contents. He then left the house and started for the river front. The police found him standing on the Tenth street wharf. He had not made up his mind fully about jumping overboard, so the police sent him to the Emergency Hospital, where the doctors found some iodine stains around his lips, but failed to dis-cover ary signs of the poison having Seventeenth street, south on Seventeenth street to Pennsylvania gotten to his stomach.

A few minates later two young men and a girl called at the hospital and Borgman left the institution with them. His despondency seemed to have left him, the doctors said. Unconscious from the effects of inhai-

He was taken to the Casualty Hospital where it was said today he was out of danger. Shepherd told the doctors he was unable to account for the gas being turned on. The police say the tip had been removed from one of the jets and the gas turned on full head.

Use of Pulmotor Saves Life of Girl Who Inhaled Gas

In the Emergency Hospital today Miss Sadie Sisson, twenty-three years old, is recovering from the effects of inhal-ing illuminating gas in her room at the p street southwest. Use of the pulmoter by Dr. Newhouse, who responded to a hurry call in the Emergency Hospital, probably saved Miss Sisson's life.

Miss Sisson, who makes her home with her father, was found shortly before last midnight by a roomer in the house, who was attracted by the odor of escaping gas, which he traced to the young woman's room.

The door was forced open and she was The door was forced open and she was found lying across the bed, unconscious. Police of the Fourth precinct were told that Miss Sisson complained of feeling ill when she returned from church last
